KINNEY RESIGNS AS CHAIRMAN

ED. INGHAM LIKELY TO BE NEW LEADER OF LOCAL DEMOCRATIC PARTY.

At a meeting of the Democratic Territorial Central Committee last night in the offices of Kinney & Marx, the resignation of W. A. Kinney, as chairman, was accepted. Edward Ingham will probably succeed him. Kinney's written resignation was as follows:

Honolulu, Hawaii, Jan. 22, 1908.

To the Members of the Democratic Territorial Central Committee,

Dear Sir:—I have been in harness as chairman of your committee since the opening of the campaign of the year 1904, when C. P. Lauka ran for Delegate to Congress. I accepted the office under protest, feeling that I could not give the time required to the performance of its duties, but as there seemed no one else available for the office who would accept, I felt it my duty to do so. Since then I have done the best I could under the circumstances to meet the requirements of the office and to discharge my duty to the party. For some time past, however, I have felt that it was only fair to me, as well as to the party, that someone else should be appointed to serve, both because I felt I had done all I was justified in doing in justice to other claims upon me, and also because I believed the party would be benefited by a change in office, thus bringing in someone else with new ideas and fresh energy for the work. Some time ago I urged Mr. Waller to take the position but he absolutely declined to do so, but I am now credibly informed that responsible men can be found who are willing to accept the position, if appointed.

The party, after successive defeats, won a substantial victory last election, and its prospects for the future are bright. The members of the party elected to office have shown themselves capable of giving responsible government, and there is no reason why the success of last election should not be duplicated and surpassed next November. The campaign promises to be a keen one, in fact, it is already in motion, and the man who is to act as chairman of the Democratic Territorial Central Committee during the next campaign should be in harness now. I, therefore, feel that the interests of the party, as well as my own interests, call for a change and I now resign my position, both on the Democratic Territorial Central Committee and the Democratic Central Committee for the County of Oahu, preferring to remain in the ranks for a season, at least, so that I can attend more completely than I have in the past to my own private affairs, which need my close attention.

I withdraw without any disaffection whatsoever, or any occasion for it, having received loyal and faithful support from you, my associates, and from the rank and file. I believe more than ever in the principles of Democracy, and promise to give earnest and faithful support to the party in the future, as I have in the past.

Thanking you for your goodwill and support, and wishing you all success in the future, I remain,

Yours very truly,

W. A. KINNEY.

The committee will meet on Friday to select a successor. In moving the acceptance of the resignation of Kinney, Sheriff Lauka said: "I have no special personal interest in this, because I do not expect to be a candidate for re-election to the office I now hold nor to any other. I have plans for other engagements when my term of office expires."

TOPICS IN BRIEF.

It is up to Goldfield, Nev., to hire another policeman.—Chicago Daily News.

Colonel Bryan is perpetually serene; he knows that a man on a donkey can't be unhorsed.—Philadelphia Press.

The worst straits to which those battle-ships are likely to be subjected are those named in honor of the late Mr. Magellan.—Chicago Tribune.

A Civil-war veteran has been ousted from the home at Sawtelle because he said that the national managers of the Soldiers' Home were "decayed politicians." Whether they too offense at the adjective or the noun has not been stated.—San Francisco Call.

Governor Fort is being talked of for the Vice Presidency. That ought to make Cannon the logical candidate for President.—Washington Post.

The absurdity of the South's position regarding the negro was illustrated in Atlanta the other day when Professor Du Bois, a colored man, was refused admittance to the public library to borrow his "Souls of the Black Folk," which he had contributed to the library at the special request of the library authorities themselves.—Kennebec Journal.

Marine Artist Reuttedahl's attack on the Navy in the January McClure's is posted in the department as a magazine explosion without fatalities.—New York World.

HARRY THAW'S VICTIM.

THE PACIFIC FLEET.

It is natural that the politicians of Europe should regard the departure of the American fleet for the Pacific with an interest not entirely devoid of uneasiness. The incident reveals to them clearly that the strength of the great republic, which they have long since acknowledged, is not merely potential, but actual; that, in other words, she can send to any corner of the oceans a fleet completely provided with all requisites for battle. That is a perfectly new revelation of the formidable strength which the republic can exert in any corner of the world, and justifies the claim of the Union to be one of the great and active powers of the earth. The President may well look upon it with pride.—London Spectator.

THE NATIONAL IDEA.

With our iron roads whirling people across a dozen state lines in a day, with the telegraph obliterating distance and time, with moral problems clamoring for solution because of the discord of state statutes, and with the strong flat of capital clutching at monopolies from sea to sea, it is idle to object to nationalism. Every instinct of repugnance to corrupt city administration, every impulse of impatience with the feebleness of state governments and of disgust at their lack of agreement in the face of like perplexities and common foes, but strengthens the tendency of the people to put their reliance upon the greater and wider powers of the national government.—New York World.

THE CENTER RUSH.

Mr. Roosevelt is doing his best to "hit the line hard."—Norfolk Landmark.

QUAKER REFLECTIONS.

And every man is afraid of something; if it isn't anything else it's a woman.

It is easy for a man to have the courage of his convictions if his bank balance is large enough.
